GoingOut-pg 54 Shopping for a Coat

I wanted a new coat. I looked in a store window. There was a nice coat (There was a coat I liked), so I went inside. I took a coat off the rack and off the hanger. I tried it on and looked in the mirror. It was too big, so I took it off and put it back on the hanger and on the rack. I tried on another coat. It fit fine! I looked at the price tag. It was $100.00. I bought it, and the salesclerk put it in a bag.

AtSchool-pg 86 Doing Homework

I had a lot of homework to do. I got out my books and a pencil. I sat down at my desk. It was 7:00. I opened my book. I was (I felt) a little hungry, so I went to get an apple. I ate the apple and started my work. But there was a good show on TV, so I watched that. It ended and I went back to my studying. I thought about listening to some music, so I turned on the radio. I started dancing. Before I knew it, it was already 11:00. So I really had to concentrate and study. I finished and put away my books. (I left some crumpled pieces of paper on the desk.)

AtSchool-pg 89 Getting Ready for a Test

Last night I studied for a test. I got out my books and sat down at my desk. I opened the book and started studying. I tested myself to see if I could remember. I checked in the book, and I was glad that I got it right. I underlined important parts of the text. I tried to memorize. I asked my little brother to test me. He asked me questions. I answered, and he said I was right. It was getting late so I thought I better go to bed. I put away my books and went to bed. I dreamed that I passed!

AtSchool-pg 90 Taking a Test

I sat at a desk. I was very nervous. I looked at my notes, one last time. It was almost time for the test to begin. I tried to remember as much as I could. (I crammed.) I put away my notes. The teacher gave me the test paper. It looked difficult. I couldn't remember anything! I was really worried, but I told myself to relax. I took a deep breath (I breathed deeply) and exhaled (and let it out). I looked at the test paper again. Well, it wasn't so difficult, after all! I wrote my answers. After the test, I was very happy.

AtSchool-pg 94 Going to the Library

I thought I would go to the library. I walked to the library and returned some books. The librarian checked the books. They were overdue, and I had to pay a fine. I looked at some books on the shelves. I thought about what I'd like to read -- a detective story, or a biography, maybe! I took some books off the shelf. I thought I'd like to read about China so I asked the librarian where I could find books about China. I got some books off the shelf and brought them to a table. They looked very interesting! I brought them to the checkout desk and showed my library card. I said thank you and left.

Weather-pg 101 A Lost Umbrella

It was raining' so I thought I better get my umbrella. But I couldn't remember where I had left it (where it was). I looked in my closet, but it wasn't there. I looked under the table; but it wasn't there, either. It wasn't under the chair, either. I stood on a stool and looked on top of the bookcase, and I looked under the pile of newspapers, but no luck. I moved the sofa, and looked behind it, but still no umbrella! I couldn't find it anywhere! It was getting late, and I had to leave. I put on my coat and rain hat, and opened my front door. There was my umbrella, on the porch! I should have thought of looking there. (I sure felt dumb!)

Weather-pg 103 A Rainy Day

I was walking in the rain, and I came to a puddle. I jumped over it. I collapsed (rolled up) my umbrella and enjoyed running in the rain. Then I came to a muddy patch of ground. I started to walk through it, but I slipped and fell. My clothes were all dirty. I went back to the clean puddle, and stepped into it, and stomped my feet, and jumped up and down. That was fun! I was all wet. When I got home, I changed my clothes.
