

Adjective Clause with Relative Pronoun as Beneficiary

Selected Verbs that typically take a Beneficiary

read aloud: vorlesen (vorgelesen)
explain: erklären (erklärt)
give: geben (gegeben)
present as a gift: schchenken (geschenkt)
show: zeigen (gezeigt)
tell: sagen (gesagt)

Other Vocabulary

story: die Geschichte
flowers: die Blumen
meet: kennenlernen (kennengelernt)
plan: der Plan
grade: die Klasse

watch: die Armbanduhr
person: der Mensch (weak noun)
name: der Name (weak noun)
recognize: erkennen (erkannt)
people: die Leute (plural)

Render the following sentences into grammatically correct German.

Hint: Find the adjective clause in each and re-work the English into standard formal structure before transforming into German.

1. The children you read the story to are in the 4th grade. (Hint: to whom you read the story)
2. Do you know the woman I gave the flowers to? (Hint: to whom I gave the flowers)
3. Would you like to meet the professor who I explained your plan to? (Hint: to whom I explained your plan)
4. My brother, who I'm giving my old watch to, is turning 30 tomorrow. (Hint: to whom I'm giving my old watch)
5. The first person I showed my car to wanted to buy it. (Hint: to whom I showed my car)
6. People you tell your name to will recognize you. (Hint: to whom you tell your name)

Schlüssel

1. Die Kinder, denen du die Geschichte vorgelesen hast, sind in der vierten Klasse.
2. Kennst du die Frau, der ich die Blumen gegeben habe?
3. Möchtest du den Professor kennenlernen, dem ich deinen Plan erklärt habe?
4. Mein Bruder, dem ich meine alte Armbanduhr schenke, wird morgen dreißig.
5. Der erste Mensch, dem ich meinen Wagen gezeigt habe, wollte ihn kaufen.
6. Leute, denen du deinen Namen sagst, werden dich erkennen.